

Seek State Aid Toward Securing Pathologist For City and Vicinity

Board of Health With Approval of Mayor Carey Will Ask State to Aid in Securing a Resident Pathologist for This Section.

At the regular meeting of the board of health Tuesday in the city hall, Commissioner Joseph Jacobson, M. D., stressed the need of a pathologist at city laboratory and put a motion before the board to appeal to the state for aid in procuring one.

Dr. Jacobson is making his motion said, "The question of having a pathologist here is one of the most important that has come before the board of health in years, I consider, and move that the state board be contacted and its terms accepted for a pathologist for this section."

Dr. Frederic Holcomb, fellow member of Dr. Jacobson on the health commission and staff of the Kingston Hospital, seconded the motion, adding stress to the importance of bringing a pathologist to Kingston.

Dr. John F. Larkin of the Benedictine Hospital staff, who is also a commissioner on the health board, added his approval, as did Commissioner Grover Laaher.

Mayor Eugene B. Carey, who presided at the meeting, the first time since his return to office after being ill, sided with the members of the board on the necessity of a local pathologist and the benefit such a scientist could be to residents of Kingston and vicinity. Citing the case of his own illness in which many blood tests had to be made, the mayor said he was in a position to see the need of a pathologist here.

However, Mayor Carey, having in mind extra expense that hiring a pathologist would put in the tax budget, asked whether one or both of the local hospitals might ever procure a private pathologist. Dr. Jacobson and the other two physicians of the board informed the mayor that such a move would be practically impossible on account of the expense entailed.

Dr. Jacobson, who put forth the strongest argument in favor of a pathologist, stressed the point that the Kingston Hospital and Benedictine Hospital would be in line for even higher ratings than those which they already have if a pathologist were employed in the city laboratory, with the expense being shared by the city and state. In bringing out his point about the ratings of the two local hospitals, Dr. Jacobson mentioned that they now are among the leading institutions of their kind.

So as the result of last night's meeting the state will be petitioned to stand its share of furnishing Kingston with a pathologist to perform the work which now has to be done in Albany, taking 36 hours or more from the time that a physician makes a blood test.

Mayor Carey, favoring with the rest of the board, the hiring of a pathologist for the advancement of medical science in Kingston and as a greater service to those in need of it for the welfare of their health, informed the board that in due course of time the city laboratory in the county's building on John street might have to be moved, and suggested that the old armory be used as a medical center, housing the laboratory on the second floor. He said that he had had the matter in mind for considerable time.

The board unanimously favored the mayor's suggestion and when the armory undergoes remodeling will make application probably for quarters in the building.

In calling last night's meeting to order, Mayor Carey greeted the board with a grateful expression of appreciation for the way it functioned during his absence from office and complimented the health commissioners and health officers for the things they had accomplished.

The board in turn expressed its joy at having the mayor present again to lead the meeting.

Special mention was given by the mayor to Miss B. Eleanor Easton and her force of workers at the city laboratory for the kind services they had rendered to him in assisting physicians with blood tests. Miss Easton informed the mayor that it was a pleasure to serve him but that she and her assistants were sorry for his protracted illness.

Dr. Fred H. Voss, who is a member of the board of health, was unable to attend the meeting on account of ill health and the sympathy of the mayor and his fellow commissioners was extended to him.

TROY MAN ARRESTED HERE ON CHARGE OF SPEEDING

Motorcycle Officer Henry P. Barron arrested Irving M. Stromberg of Troy on a charge of speeding 44 miles an hour on Albany avenue on Tuesday afternoon. Stromberg furnished $15 cash bail for his appearance in police court on Tuesday morning.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP).—The position of the treasury September 11 was: Receipts $29,297,741.99; expenditures, $16,164,543.34; balance $13,133,198.65; customs receipts for the month, $10,673,259.82. Receipts for the fiscal year to date (since July 1) $456,267,123.76; expenditures $353,681,994.49 (including $261,187,952.88 emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures $23,374,870.79.

Technocracy Calls NRA Plans "Folly"

New York, Sept. 13 (AP).—Technocracy, the social engineering program designed by Howard Scott to save North America, is reaching its mechanized life lines today in two branches over America.

Chief Technocrat Scott sits in a tall Manhattan office building and smiles grimly at "Roosevelt folly." "By October of next year the present revival expedient will have failed," says Scott. "I hope technocracy will be ready by then to take over the economic direction of the country."

And in a not far distant office building, Harold Loeb, good friend of Scott, who is the executive officer of the Continental Committee on Technocracy.

The organizations are independent of each other and each claims more than 200,000 members in North America, principally in the mid-west and along the west coast.

Loeb also is sure the Roosevelt NRA program will fail soon unless there is an infusion which will only "postpone the day of failure."

Back of both organizations is the idea that the United States must be prepared for the coming power of technocracy through educational channels.

Switching Crew To Be Quizzed Today

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP).—Coroner Frank J. Hitchcock today planned to question a Binghamton switching crew to learn why they flagged the Atlantic Express last Tuesday night and caused it to stop in the path of the milk train which crashed into its rear coaches and killed 14 persons.

The fact was brought out yesterday at the first day of the inquest that the passenger train had never been stopped before by a switching crew. Charles Griffin, engineer of the freight train, said that switching operations had always been completed before No. 8 came through.

The wreck occurred after the passenger train was halted at the eastern outskirts of Binghamton to wait for a string of freight cars to get off the track. A milk train, only a few minutes behind the express, came around a curve and was unable to stop.

Charles R. Jaynes, captain of the freight train, told the coroner yesterday that the responsibility for all switching operations lies with the yardmaster. Albert Norton, conductor, said he did not know his train was to stop for switching until waybills were handed him as he passed the Erie freight station.

Hunter Students Win, Will Attend Old School

The striking students of Hunter High School have won their fight with the board of education of the Tannersville-Hunter Central School, the board having granted the students' demands that they be permitted to remain in Hunter High School, instead of being compelled to go to Tannersville.

In order to accommodate all the students in Hunter, when they returned to school Tuesday it was necessary to rent additional quarters in another building as Hunter High School is crowded. The home of Fred Quick in Hunter was rented and is now being equipped as rapidly as possible to enable all of the third and fourth year students to resume their studies as soon as possible. It was necessary also to engage another teacher.

The decision, Mr. Lackey, president of the board, says will have no effect on the proposition to construct a new Central School building which will be placed before the voters of the school district next month.

UNEMPLOYED SEEK WOOD LOTS FOR CUTTING

Anyone owning a wood lot within a reasonable distance from Kingston who is willing to help the unemployed with wood for the coming fall and winter will get in touch with the Workers' Cooperative Association, 7 Cedar street, or phone 2874. Many of the jobs are in need of wood for cooking purposes and for light fuel. A committee of the association was appointed to obtain pledges from wood lot owners to cut dead and surplus wood. Such clearing of wood lots would probably be beneficial and not harmful as the cutting would be done under the supervision of someone having a practical knowledge of forestry. It would be appreciated if those who have wood lots will get in touch with the association either by phone or letter.

The chairman of the committee, Harley Markle, reports that a great many of the jobs are in immediate need of wood and that a truck has been donated to convey the men to and from the wood lots and to transport the wood.

Isadore Shins, Agent SM, Dead

Isadore Shins, founder of the New York department store bearing his name, died today at his home, just two days after he celebrated his 55th wedding anniversary. He was 82 years old.

Score of Americans In Cuba Ready To Leave If New Government Fails

Concern Grows As New Threats of Strikes Arise—Move to Train Boys As Soldiers—Officers Still Fail to Make Peace.

By JOHN P. MCKNIGHT (Copyright, 1933, by The Associated Press)

Havana, Sept. 13 (AP).—Many Americans in Cuba prepared for emergencies today as they watched with growing concern new threats of strikes, a move to train boys as soldiers, and the failure of 500 officers to make peace with the new government.

At least a score of Americans were under military protection in Ciego de Avila after labor troubles at American-owned manganese mines had endangered their lives. Soldiers had found them barricaded in their homes, fearing an attack by workers.

Across the bay from Santiago de Cuba, in the small Cape Rente settlement, a number of Americans gathered for safety after leaving their homes in interior Oriente province because of unsettled labor conditions.

Santiago awaited the arrival of American warships as strikes that have tied up sugar mills became more intense.

In Cardenas, on the north coast, American residents packed their baggage so they could board an American coast guard ship if violence should result from unrest among negroes, who were reported angered because they had not been given help along with other storm victims.

Striking employees of the Consolidated Railways at Camaguey, in mid-Cuba, their demands that 1930 wage levels be restored having been refused, picketed highways to prevent company officials, including two Americans, from leaving the city.

The United States navy destroyer J. Fred Talbot entered Santiago harbor from Manzanillo to relieve the Sturtevant, which went to Calmanera to relieve. The American flotilla near Cuba, sent to protect Americans and their property, numbers about 30 ships.

Three training camps have been established to train 2,000 students, many in their teens.

A spokesman, who explained that the boys, felt kindly toward the Americans for their "assistance" in overthrowing President Gerardo Machado a month ago, said: "We are going to train these students so that the things that happened to them under the Machado regime cannot happen again. We want them to know military tactics and be trained to protect themselves."

This youth movement began under Machado, gathered momentum under his successor, Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, and finally put Ramon Grau San Martin into the presidency. Strikes at many points harassed the administration and the National Confederation of Labor was said to be considering another general strike, like the one that precipitated Machado's downfall.

Hope for American recognition was entertained by the new administration after Secretary Cordell Hull's statement that any government capable of maintaining order and representative of the people's will would be recognized.

American Ambassador Sumner Welles told newspapermen he had nothing to add to Mr. Hull's statement, and denied any representative of the Grau San Martin regime had approached him on the question of recognition.

Welles left the National Hotel, in which armed officers, deposited when an enlisted men's coup d'etat put a junta in power, were surrounded by soldiers.

The ambassador said he moved because there was no food there and "there was a threat that water and lights might be cut off."

The officers, meanwhile, remained firm in their refusal to recognize the Grau San Martin administration or its demands that they return to their posts.

COAL INDUSTRY CODE BEING WRITTEN BY NRA

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP).—A new recovery code for the bituminous coal industry was being written today at NRA headquarters.

Authors summoned to the conference tables included administration experts, representatives of operators from all major producing fields and leaders of the United Mine Workers of America. Hugh S. Johnson himself was to take a hand as knotty issues arose.

Spurring all groups toward the goal of completing the final code this week were reports of growing labor disturbances in western Pennsylvania coal fields. But Deputy Administrator Kenneth M. Simpson declined to forecast a definite time for taking the charter to the White House.

Johnson's code, handed operators last week, was the basis for the new draft. Clause by clause, NRA officials attempted to harmonize that code with objections submitted by operators and miners.

Return For Operation

New York, Sept. 13 (AP).—James Strass, United States ambassador to France, returned to New York today to undergo a minor operation. He said he expected to return to his post in Paris not later than November.

Need 7 More States To Patronage Trouble End Prohibition As 3 Joined Wets Tuesday

Twenty-nine states now favor repeal—Maryland, Minnesota and Colorado Voted Wet Tuesday—May Have Repeal by December 6.

(By The Associated Press.) Twenty-nine states today marched the repeal path; only seven more need follow to end national prohibition.

Maryland, Minnesota and Colorado were the latest recruits. All voted yesterday to abolish the eighteenth amendment and left the score in 1933's balloting: For repeal, 29; against, 0.

If the seven states now needed to supply the three-quarters of the union required for repeal are among the 10 voting before November 5, the repeal amendment will be ratified formally on December 6—date of the 36th convention.

The wets carried Maryland overwhelmingly. Fast mounting figures put the repeal majority at nearly five to one.

The margins were smaller but substantial in Colorado and Minnesota, home of Andrew J. Volstead, who sponsored the prohibition enforcement law. Late counts listed both in the two-to-one class.

Prohibitionists promised undiminished efforts to block the trend which on Monday cost them Maine, the nation's first bone dry state.

Next week, on Tuesday, Idaho and New Mexico vote on repeal. Two weeks later—October 3—Virginia votes, and a week later—October 10—Florida.

These four end the balloting until November 7, when six more vote: Kentucky, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Utah.

The list of 29 states which have voted to ratify the twenty-first or repeal amendment today read: Michigan, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Wyoming, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Nevada, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Iowa, West Virginia, California, Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee, Oregon, Arizona, Missouri, Maryland, Washington, Vermont, Maine, Minnesota and Colorado.

To Close All Upstate Prohibition Offices

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP).—All upstate prohibition offices will be closed by September 15, according to information from the Syracuse enforcement headquarters today.

Michael Kevany, chief clerk in the office of the administrator of the prohibition unit in the division of investigation, department of justice, New York, was here today superintending the office closing. He came from Buffalo after closing three prohibition offices in western New York. Headquarters for that district were in Rochester and Elmira. Mr. Kevany also closed the former special agents' office in Buffalo.

He also will close the branch offices of the Syracuse area at Malone, Binghamton, Utica and Albany before returning to New York.

Under the new set up there will be no agent in charge in any of the upstate cities, each individual agent reporting directly to Martin O. Hanson, New York city administrator of the prohibition unit for New York state, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Baptists Honor Departing Pastor

The congregation of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will tender a farewell reception this evening to their retiring pastor, the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Smith, and Mrs. Smith. The reception will be held in the chapel at 8 p. m., and all friends of the pastor and his wife are invited to be present.

Dr. Smith, who in February, 1930, completed a service of 50 years in the ministry, has been for the past eight years with the Wurts Street Church. He and Mrs. Smith will make their home near Utica.

GENERAL PERSHING OBSERVES HIS 73RD BIRTHDAY QUIETLY

Paris, Sept. 13 (AP).—General John J. Pershing observed his 73rd birthday today quietly. He read telegrams of congratulation and hoped to find time to write his daily stint of the second war book on which he is working.

Work in connection with battle monuments, which has brought him to France regularly since the World War has now been virtually completed, leaving the one-time commander of the A. E. F. more leisure.

CLAIM DISCOVERY OF POLISH ESPIONAGE SYSTEM

Berlin, Sept. 13 (AP).—Discovery of a Polish espionage system was claimed by secret police today with the arrest of Walter Kozlowski, who allegedly confessed he was sent to Germany to gather information. Police said he received payments through Kazimir Zelinski, Polish legation employee in Berlin, who died suddenly last Friday. The state's attorney confiscated the body.

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP).—Patronage, that trouble zone of politics, produced in the capital today rumbles of Democratic unrest that resounded even above the intensity of President Roosevelt's recovery drive.

A group of party stalwarts in the Senate was reported to have sponsored a round-robin to the chief executive asking jobs for old-line Democrats. These Senators protested the appointment of Republicans—particularly by Secretary Ickes, Wallace and Perkins.

At the end of the capitol, Speaker Henry T. Rainey blamed the "old Republican setup" in the farm credit administration for failure to give the farmers "adequate" mortgage relief.

The senatorial round-robin could not be located. But among its signers was a report that a letter on the same subject had gone to the White House from Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, the Senate's president pro tempore and foreign relations committee chairman.

This communication further was reported to say that the three cabinet officers "have resented my approaches." It was said to observe also:

"If a Democrat is named for office, it involves political corruption. If a Republican is named, in their minds, it is an indication of high-minded non-partisanship."

Rainey, who dictated a statement upon returning to his office yesterday, said "every key man in the old Republican organization has been retained" by the credit administration.

CLOTHESPINS USED TO CLAMP LITTLE BOY'S TONGUE

Sacramento, Calif., Sept. 13 (AP).—Clothespins were used to clamp the tongue of a 4-year-old Erwin Anderson as a "disciplinary measure," police said, and the boy's foster mother, Mrs. Eva Anderson, 30, was under arrest today charged with inhuman treatment.

Frank Gessner, juvenile officer, acting on neighbors' complaints, found the boy at the Anderson home Monday sobbing in pain, on top of the Anderson garage.

Gessner said two clamp-type clothespins had been attached to the child's tongue which was pulled from his mouth. The officer said his tongue was badly swollen and his face and body were bruised.

Mrs. Anderson, Gessner said, told him the treatment was a "disciplinary measure" she had taken to break him of bad habits. The officer said she told him she believed "shaming" the child before his playmates would correct the habits.

The boy, with clothespins on his tongue and his head covered with a pair of pants, neighbors told Gessner, was placed on the sidewalk in front of his home so his playmates could see him.

Mrs. May Wortz of the state welfare department, ordered the boy and his 6-year-old brother, who were adopted conditionally by the Andersons last November from the California Children's Home Society of Oakland, taken from the couple's custody.

WAPPINGERS FALLS COP SHOOT DEPUTY SHERIFF

Deputy Sheriff Nelson Hulst, 45, of Wappingers Falls is in Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, as the result of a shooting affray in the Pinehurst Inn, south of Poughkeepsie, Monday night, and Edward Curran, Wappingers policeman, is being held in $1,000 bail charged with second degree assault.

According to one witness, the two were standing at the bar in the tap room of the inn. Curran drew his revolver and said to Hulst, "I'll burn you." Then three shots were fired. A moment later Hulst, with blood running from a wound in his right leg, said, "I'm shot."

A physician was called and ordered the wounded man removed to Vassar Hospital. He regarded the wound as serious but not dangerous. The bullet passed through the fleshy part of the leg but did not shatter any bones.

Curran when arraigned on the assault charge pleaded not guilty, warmly denying any argument with Hulst. He called the shooting accidental.

ROUNDING OFF CURBS AT CONGESTED POINTS

The work of rounding off curbs at narrow street intersections and at congested points to permit greater safety is being done by the board of public works. Workmen are now making such an improvement at the corner of Lucas avenue and Green street. Recently the curbs at Railroad avenue and Greenhill avenue on Broadway were rounded off and similar work has been done at Pearl and Wall streets and also at Broadway and Strand. Another point from which numerous complaints have come is the corner of Pearl and Washington avenue.

Blister Rust at Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP).—Reappearance of the damaging blister rust on pine trees in Saratoga county resulted today in a new search for black currant bushes. County inspectors were ordered to make a yard-to-yard inspection for the bushes, on which the blister rust feeds in the early stage of its development. All black currant bushes will be uprooted.

Work Relief Funds Are About Exhausted

Approximately $20,000 Left in Fund Which Will Carry Work On Until Early in October—Weekly Payroll of $4,000—Herzog Explains Finances and Work to Common Council—Warns of Another Hard Winter.

The local emergency work relief committee has approximately $20,000 left to carry on work relief in Kingston, and unless further funds are appropriated by the city the work relief bureau will have to close down early in October, according to statements made by M. H. Herzog, chairman of the work relief, at the adjourned meeting of the common council Tuesday evening. Mr. Herzog said that the weekly payroll was approximately $4,000, and that there were 1,286 active cases being carried by the bureau and that there was no doubt in his mind that this winter the city would have to look out for at least 1,500 cases.

City Tax Sale To Be Held Thursday

City Treasurer James H. Betts will offer for sale a number of properties on which city taxes have not been paid on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the city hall. There is said to be approximately $10,000 in unpaid taxes standing against the properties to be sold.

Promise Court Fight In Four New Taxes

New York, Sept. 13 (AP).—A threat of a court fight by bankers and brokers confronted the city today after its board of estimate had approved four new taxes.

The taxes, passed late yesterday, comprise a five per cent levy on gross profits of securities brokers, four cents a share on stock transfers by residents, 1½ per cent on gross income of public utilities and ¼ of 1 per cent on the value of investments of savings banks and fire and life insurance companies.

Mayor John P. O'Brien said the taxes, devised by Samuel Untermyer, special financial adviser, are for unemployment relief. The estimated yield is $2,700,000 in the next six months. The mayor said:

"Let some, or as many as they will, make political capital of the need for taxation for the needy and unemployed. Let them make their threats of retaliation at the polls. This board will go on and do its duty without vacillation."

Savings bank heads planned to meet soon to consider possible litigation. Resort to the courts also has been threatened by Wall Street firms. Hints that the Stock Exchange might move out of the city has brought invitations from New Jersey inviting the exchange to locate in that state tax-free.

The board of aldermen is expected to approve the tax program tomorrow. The mayor indicated it would become law September 21.

Captain Purvis Had Charge of Big Tow

The Buffalo Courier Express of last Friday said that a fleet of seven barges in charge of the tug Cornell of the Cornell Line with Captain Thomas C. Purvis of West Chestnut street, this city, in command arrived at the barge canal terminal there. The tow was reported to be the largest pulled from New York to Buffalo by a single tug.

On board five of the barges were approximately 100,000 bushels of California pastry wheat, special high-grade wheat wrapped in cellophane to prevent spoilage by rain or dampness. The cargo will be transferred to lake freighters on arrival and forwarded to Chicago where it will be placed on exhibition with other varieties of wheat in a special contest being conducted as part of exposition activities.

The remaining two barges carry sugar. They also will be unloaded at the canal terminal. Together, the cargoes comprise 4,426 tons, an unusually heavy consignment.

UNDERTAKER KELLY HOME FROM KINGSTON HOSPITAL

Ernest A. Kelly, well known undertaker of 111 West Chester street, who has been confined to the Kingston Hospital, the result of a fall on the sidewalk in front of his home on Tuesday of last week, returned home today, where he is convalescing. Mr. Kelly, who had parked at the curb, and was about to enter the house when he stubbed his toe and fell to the sidewalk. He sustained a fractured shoulder and nose and was cut on the chin.

Interdictory Decree

Mrs. Elizabeth Loeffler Moore of Troy has been granted an interdictory decree of divorce from Captain A. B. Moore, inspector of New York State Police and dean of the New York State Police School, according to papers filed in Rensselaer county clerk's office, Troy.

Married a little more than three years ago, Mrs. Moore charged her husband with misconduct in a Schenectady hotel last June 27 with a "red headed woman." James T. Loftus, North Greenbush, and John F. Fitzpatrick, address not stated, testified as to the misconduct. They or to be received in the future from the state for work relief be turned "shadow" the trooper inspector.

Money Not Needed

When Mr. Herzog was questioned it developed that there was no necessity for the council adopting the proposed resolution as the work relief had received all of its refunds from the state with the exception of $5,600 which would be received later this month.

The council then took a recess of five minutes to allow the finance committee to meet with Mr. Herzog and later when the council reconvened the finance committee withdrew the original resolution and proposed that a resolution be adopted reading that all refunds now on hand be received in the future from the state for work relief be turned "shadow" the trooper inspector.

Dolls of Long Ago

In the early eighteen hundreds dolls were made with heads of "composition" and had painted hair. They sometimes had kid or cotton bodies. A few of these on display have their hair puffed out over their ears in a wonderful manner and held at the back by a high "back" comb. They were not, however, as pretty as the modern ones.

HOLLAND HEATING MAKES WARM FRIENDS

FREEMAN WANT ADS BRING RESULTS!

"Proud and glad to do our part"

WITH President Roosevelt's acceptance of the NRA Automobile Code, Chevrolet, the world's largest builder of motor cars, officially begins operations in accordance with the administration's recovery program.

Although the official code was signed only a few days ago, it will be of interest to Chevrolet's many friends to learn that the Chevrolet Motor Company started to carry out the spirit of today's recovery program over three years ago!

At that time, we put into operation a "share-the-work" plan, whereby our workmen cooperated in spreading the work to give more men jobs. By means of this plan, as well as by regulating hours of work per week to meet retail demand, and by building up parts stocks in lean seasons, it was possible to carry 33,000 men on our payroll through the depression. For eleven months of each year since 1929, we have kept our employment within 10 per cent of this average. We are justly proud of that record. We are also proud to say that Chevrolet workmen did not, at any time during the depression, become a burden on public welfare departments.

On August 1st of this year, Chevrolet announced a blanket wage increase as well as the adoption of a 7½-hour, 5-day week and the employment of 12,000 additional men. This wage increase was the second in the last 4 months, Chevrolet having been among the first to put a blanket wage increase into effect.

We feel that the President's recovery program deserves the whole-hearted support of every citizen and manufacturer in America. It is a bold, swift, courageous plan to start the ball rolling toward economic recovery. Its sincerity is unquestioned. Its objectives are admirable. And the direct, forceful steps the President and his associates are taking to make it a success, should stir the pride and admiration of every American.

We are proud and glad to do our part. And we are deeply grateful to the American people for the patronage that has enabled us to anticipate the present recovery program and to play our part today. After all, the immense number of men employed by Chevrolet is a direct result of the continued preference America has shown for Chevrolet.

Mrs. Kelley Host To Ulster Garden Club

On Tuesday afternoon the Ulster Garden Club met at the beautiful home of Mrs. Herman Kelley at St. Betsy, and during the afternoon enjoyed a very interesting and instructive illustrated lecture on "Rock Gardens" given by Carl Staunton from Putnam, New Hampshire.

A more perfect early autumnal day could not have been chosen for the meeting and the members and their guests arrived early at the home of their hostess in the hope of enjoying her enchanted garden before going indoors for the meeting.

One would have to write a beautiful poem to describe at all adequately the enchanted place which Mrs. Kelley calls by the lovely name of "My garden." Wherever one walks there are flowers that are friends with each other and with their surroundings; flowers that are rare and dignified, even almost formal; and flowers that are shy and intimate, finding even rocks a place to nestle in or grow about. And always there is the restfulness of a friendly spirit just ahead of one in the walks and retreats of the wooded or flower covered spaces. Magnificent trees and friendly little shrubs, limpid streams running gaily or quietly under bridges that are like a hand-shake between the sides of the glen through which the streams flow or linger in mirror-like pools are all painting a living picture.

Ferns and native flowers, and growing all have their place in the beauty of the place. At various points for resting or looking into the heart of a pool or across the Rondout creek or up the miniature valley, rustic seats are placed inconspicuously. All growing things seemed rarely happy in the place chosen for them by their garden artist and mistress, Mrs. Kelley. If it were not for the new paths and opened spaces it would be hard to realize that Mrs. Kelley's ideals had not yet all been realized. Long before all this had been seen, came the call to the club members to attend a short business meeting in the house, Mrs. Charles de la Vergne, the vice president, presiding.

After the brief business session, all of the guests were hidden to hear Carl Staunton of Putnam, N. H., give his illustrated talk on "Rock Gardens." Colored lantern slides and those in black and white gave realism to the talk by Mr. Staunton, who was graciously introduced by Mrs. De la Vergne.

Mr. Staunton told the ladies there were two ways of going about the creating of a rock garden. One was to have a site in mind and then go about forming the rock garden by the introduction of the right kind of plants. The other was to determine upon certain desired plants and then find the right place to establish them in a rock garden. In a rock garden one may have different and rare plants such as will grow in no other part or kind of a garden. Some plants want the full sun, others are more at home in the shade. One thing Mr. Staunton did insist upon was that was "the making the rock garden belong."

The speaker proved that rock gardens may be even as useful as they can be beautiful, when they become a screen to an unsightly garage or to some scenic disturbance on one's premises.

All the details of really building the rock gardens were given interestingly by the speaker. He told his audience, and proved his statement by his pictures, that trees are an ideal and really necessary setting for a rock garden. Natural ledges and slopes in one's garden spaces are ideal vantage spots for the building of a rock garden wherein the ups and downs need to be emphasized, to create a natural effect.

Mr. Staunton went into some length in telling and showing just what kinds of rocks and stones should be used and how they should be arranged. Weather-worn, soft, mossy rocks; flat rather than round ones, with an occasional unique stone were most adaptable. Then they should have all but their faces buried by earth in which to grow the inhabitants of the rock garden. In any event there must be a planned design of the proposed garden.

While water is not necessary to a rock garden it adds much of charm to it. But if water is made use of it must be in a natural and artistic fashion. Mr. Staunton told the Garden Club just how to go about making a rock garden with water for either a pool or small and graceful waterfalls or trickling streams over mossy rocks. If one would have water flow in a pool or pond it must be deeper than otherwise.

Ledges and certain sorts of stone walls adapt themselves nicely to the making of a rock garden. When it comes to planting, the speaker warned that much good soil was always needed even though much of it need not be in evidence but where plants roots could reach it. In the planting, he advised the use of some native and wild growth that would fit into the picture. Ferns were among the plants that are particularly adaptable, choosing their own type of soil for them.

In closing his interesting talk Mr. Staunton emphasized again the necessity of keeping the rock garden as a restful and inconspicuous part of the garden spaces of any home, where it would never obtrude itself, but would be a welcoming retreat at all times.

After the talk, the guests enjoyed delightful refreshments, the tea table with its artistic bowl of violet colored and pink petunias in profusion being presided over by Mrs. Charles de la Vergne and Mrs. Charles Mercer Hall.

Before leaving the guests again strolled through the fascinating grounds, leaving with a beautiful memory of the perfect September afternoon and Mrs. Kelley's gracious hospitality.

MT. TREMPER GRANGE TO MEET SEPTEMBER 14

Mt. Tremper Grange, No. 1468, announces a special meeting on Thursday, September 14, at 8 p. m. (standard time) instead of its regular meeting on Friday, September 15. Hurley and Paterson Granges will visit Mt. Tremper and will bring with them the "Cabin". This promises to be a very interesting meeting.

ULSTER PARK LADIES' AID TO MEET FRIDAY

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Ulster Park Reformed Dutch Church will hold its regular meeting on Friday afternoon, September 15, at 3 o'clock, at the home of Miss Anna V. Terpening. A full attendance is desired to plan the work for the fall and winter. Kindly note the change in time from 2:30 to 3.

Treated at Hospital
Clifford Longendyke of 8 Hurley avenue was given treatment at the Kingston Hospital Tuesday night for a slight concussion of the brain received when the car he was driving was struck by a truck near Highland. Miss Bessie Heard, who was riding with him, suffered from shock.

Talks to parents

Shifting the Blame

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Every bad habit and unfortunate peculiarity developed by the children in the Smith family was at once attributed by their mother to their Smith inheritance. She held up her own family, the Browns, as paragons of virtue and grace.

Obviously she despised her husband's family and felt that she had lowered herself by marrying into it.

For some years the children took it quietly enough, and did not give the matter much thought, and then, as they grew old enough to reason, their mother's attitude at first puzzled then annoyed them.

They began to take sides with their father, and eventually there arose between the mother and her children an antagonism which finally developed into a breach too great to be healed.

Mothers seem more liable than fathers to this kind of shifting the blame. Maybe it is their way of averting themselves unconsciously on society for the loss of their own surnames in marriage. Certainly no mother would be about deliberately to poison her children's minds against their father's family if she loved and respected her husband, as Mrs. Smith, for example, undoubtedly did.

Everyone has seen cases of the kind, though not, perhaps, as extreme as the one cited. The consequences may be worse than a breach between mother and children, for they may reach down into the future and mar the children's lives.

Normal development cannot be expected in a child who comes from an unbalanced and jangling household where there is competition or friction between the parents.

And though the father may be self-acting or may pass off the accusations as a joke, the children will feel the contempt which the mother expresses.

BLOOMINGTON. Bloomington, Sept. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Smedes and little daughter and Mrs. Smedes's sister, who spent the summer here with Mrs. Francis Smedes, have returned to their home in Glen Rock, N. J.

Marion Hotelling of Hurley visited his brother, James Hotelling, and family Tuesday.

Miss Conklin of the city spent a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. Nick Sauer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Terhune went Friday morning on the trip to the Adirondacks, where they enjoyed it with many others. They stayed until Monday evening, when they all returned to their homes again.

Mrs. Florence Relyea went to Poughkeepsie Monday to visit her sister, Mrs. Walter Connor. She will remain there until the latter part of the week.

The Ladies' Aid held its first meeting after vacation at the home of Mrs. Nicholas Sauer last Wednesday afternoon. There were 10 ladies present and all enjoyed the afternoon very much. Plans were made for the All-Day Prayer Service to be held in October. Date and program will be announced later. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Van Eaten.

The Missionary Society will also hold its meeting at Mrs. Sauer's home Thursday, September 21 at 2 o'clock. Assisting hostess will be Florence N. Relyea. Leader, Mrs. Raymond Ackert. Topic, "What Are We Doing for the Indians?" New members and visitors always welcome.

For the past four Sunday evenings the pulpit has been supplied as follows: August 20 and 27, the Rev. Anson Constant of Tilton; September 3 and 10, the Rev. F. B. Steketee of Kingston. Beginning Sunday, September 17, morning service will be resumed at the regular hour, 9:45 o'clock. The Rev. A. V. S. Wallace of Little Britain, N. Y., will preach Sunday school immediately following the church service at 11 o'clock. No evening service. September 24 the pastor, the Rev. C. V. W. Bedford will occupy the pulpit and all regular church services will be resumed. Everyone is cordially invited to all services.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Engelken received still another surprise this summer. It was before breakfast on Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. J. Rittweiler, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rittweiler, Mrs. Louise Rittweiler and Mrs. Clara Williams came from the city. A jolly time was had by all. There were 16 people at the house. Mrs. J. Engelken feels very fortunate now that they left for the city again.

Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Dow, where Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Dwyer and son, George, were visiting.

FOR A GOOD TIME

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—Security markets, closing at noon today for the high New York NRA demonstration, generally followed a narrow and featureless range. Except for a few specialties, which were run up for gains of as much as 2 points, most stock were content to hold just a little better than their levels of yesterday. The finish was firm. Transfers approximated 500,000 shares.

While business was rather quiet on the stock exchange, a rally in grains at Chicago served to bolster sentiment and some of the farm issues were given late attention. Wheat got up about 2 cents a bushel. Cotton improved moderately. Bonds were slightly mixed. The dollar showed further declining tendencies in foreign exchange dealings.

The agricultural shares recorded their principal gains just before the close. With Case and Sears Roebuck advancing some 2 points each, while International Harvester, Deere and Montgomery Ward came back for about a point. The more active specialties, up around a point, included Great Western Sugar, American Sugar Refining, Motor Meter, Kelvintor and Matheson Alkali. The alcoholists were up fractionally to a point, although they were not overly enthusiastic. Most of the rally did better, with Hudson & Manhattan gaining more than 2 points. For Film was in demand for an advance of 1½ and Loew's was up nearly a point. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, DuPont, General Motors and other leaders were slightly higher.

In the matter of inflation, and its relation in the National Recovery Movement, some market observers hold that drastic currency expansion may not be compatible with the NRA movement. The former, it is argued, might prove highly unmanageable while the latter bespeaks management of the strict sort.

Gigantic NRA Parade In New York City

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—The blue eagle marshalled one of the world's greatest peace-time parades today. He summoned a quarter million people in industry to march up Fifth avenue in the "President's NRA Day" demonstration.

Moving, as NRA Chief Grover A. Whalen described it, from "the darkness of depression" toward the "sunlight of prosperity," the gigantic cavalcade was set to start at 12:30 p. m., eastern standard time, and billow up the historic avenue until hours after sundown.

Capital and labor took places side by side in the ranks under the NRA banner as the shock troops of the Industrial Recovery Forces gathered at starting points in 71 massed divisions.

Thronging, granted half-holiday, flocked to the scene to watch it. Some advance estimates said the spectators would number 2,000,000. Flashing uniforms of National Guardsmen in full dress and special costumes of industrial workers splashed the scene with color. In contrast, one group of headgear workers elected to march in shining topers.

General Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, came to join Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt and the governors of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut in the reviewing stand at the public library, Fifth avenue and 42nd street.

About the Folks

A son, LeRoy, has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Marshall of Steep Rocks, at the Benedictine Hospital.

Howard K. Phillips, of the traveling sales department of the Canfield Supply Company, who has been spending some time at Lake George, has returned.

Miss Dorothy Van Aken of 53 Smith avenue, who has been confined to her home on account of illness, has returned to work again at the Hercules Powder Plant, Port Ewen.

Miss Ethel Skelton of Crane street is visiting her uncle, Dr. C. W. Skelton, at Providence, Rhode Island, and from there will go to Cape Cod, where she will spend her vacation.

John McCarthy, Jr., of Marlborough, who has been in a critical condition in Worcester City Hospital, Mass., owing to an automobile accident, is recovering slowly. He is suffering from broken leg, broken wrist, injury to eye and several head wounds.

Society Notes

Nagle-Freilich
A very pretty church wedding took place Sunday at 2 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, when the Rev. William H. Pretzsch, pastor, united in marriage Elizabeth Catherine Freilich of 89 Gage street and Nicholas Nagle of Glen street. The bride wore white satin with overlace and white picture hat and carried white tea roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Olive Van Bitten, wore pale green and carried pink tea roses. The best man was Francis Brady. The bride received many pretty and useful things such as money, silver, china and linen. After a supper was served at the bride's home the couple left for a short honeymoon. They will reside at 88 Emerick street.

SUFFERS BROKEN LEG IN NEIGHBORHOOD FOOTBALL

James Geary, young son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Geary of 69 West Union street and a freshman at Kingston High School, is in the Kingston Hospital with a broken leg because he wouldn't let "that guy with the ball" get by him in a practice football game at Cornell Park, Tuesday night.

Young Geary, playing with other young football enthusiasts of his neighborhood, tackled the ball-carrier and in stopping him fell to the ground, breaking his leg. Dr. G. W. Ross was called to examine him. He called the city ambulance and had the boy removed to the Kingston Hospital for X-rays.

As Patrolman Guernsey Burger and David Isaacson carried him into the ambulance on a stretcher young Geary said, "Well, I didn't let that guy with the ball get past anyhow."

John Daly to Inherit.
New York, Sept. 12. (Special)—John Daly of Kingston will share equally with his sister, Anna F. Allen, of Brooklyn, and a brother, Roger Daly, also of Brooklyn, the residuary estate left by their mother, the late Mrs. Anna Daly, according to the provisions of the will filed for probate in Brooklyn surrogate's court today. The estate is estimated at $6,000. Mrs. Daly died at her Brooklyn home, 448 42nd street, July 30.

Ambulance Calls Here.
The ambulance on Tuesday removed Mrs. George Elms from 155 Third avenue to the Kingston Hospital; Helen Williams from 58 Rock street to the Kingston Hospital; James Geary from 69 West Union street to the Kingston Hospital, and Mary Patterson from 119 North Front street to the Benedictine Hospital. This morning the ambulance removed Jennie Estroff from 164 East Chester street to the Kingston Hospital.

Orders Federal Aid.
Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—Federal aid totaling $50,000,000 has been ordered by President Roosevelt to meet the emergency resulting from drought, hurricanes and grasshoppers.

POULTRY

GIVE UP ROOSTERS FOR QUALITY EGGS

Illinois Sale Proves Idea Is a Good One.

A team of five million dollars annually, which apportioned eggs are estimated to be causing Illinois farmers, could be materially reduced if all poultry men in the state followed the lead of White county farmers in getting rid of surplus roosters, according to H. H. Alp, extension specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

A total of 1,357 roosters weighing 8,019 pounds—more than four tons—were rounded up off the county farms and sold during a recent "rooster day" staged as part of the college's campaign for quality Illinois eggs. Bringing five and one-half cents a pound net, the roosters put almost $475 cash into the pockets of farmers. A crowd of 3,500 people attended the "rooster day" event and sale.

Roosters are one of the chief offenders in causing egg spoilage, because the germ in fertile eggs will begin to develop in warm weather without the eggs being put under a hen or in an incubator.

Not only roosters but also other causes of poor quality eggs should be guarded against, because the golden-yolked, middle-west eggs will bring a premium price on the markets if producers will give them proper care and handling prior to selling.

His suggestions are:

"Feed a balanced ration and limit the feeding to that ration."

"Gather eggs twice daily."

"Keep eggs in a cool, moderately dry place cooler than 80 degrees Fahrenheit."

"Cool eggs before placing them in the case."

"Eliminate dirty eggs by providing a nest for every six hens, by keeping the flock confined to the house until noon on days when it is wet outside, by keeping all broody hens off the nests and by keeping the house clean."

"Protect eggs from heat and sun when marketing them."

"Market eggs twice a week."

"Sort eggs according to size and color of shell."

"Sell to dealers properly equipped to handle eggs."

State College Poultry Department Sells Meat

The poultry department at the state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y., sold solid chicken meat to its egg customers in disposing of several hundred eight-week-old broilers at the end of a feeding experiment. The method is recommended by L. M. Hurd to poultrymen in localities where the meat can be retained.

The broilers were killed and skinned, and only the breasts, thighs, livers, gizzards and hearts were sold. One man usually killed and skinned from eight to ten birds an hour. At twenty-five cents an hour the cost was about three cents a bird. The meat sold to regular egg customers for thirty cents a pound, and moved readily, he says. A two-pound broiler brought about thirty cents, or about the cost of growing a broiler. The shrinkage from the live weight was about 54 per cent.

It is unnecessary, Professor Hurd points out, to wait until the broilers weigh two pounds, for they can be killed any time after they weigh a half-pound. It is more profitable, he says, to sell broilers as solid chicken meat than to kill and bury the carcasses as soon as the sex can be determined, as many poultrymen did this year.

Disinfect Laying House

Twice a year has been recommended as the proper number of times to thoroughly disinfect the laying house; once a month would be better. It is next to impossible to properly disinfect an earth floor. With a concrete floor and cheap spray outfit, an extra half hour after cleaning out the litter will be ample time to make a thorough job of disinfecting.

Poultry Notes

An attempt to obtain production of larger eggs by culling hens at a hatchery in Fort Atkinson, Wis., brought results when a Rhode Island Red laid an egg which weighed a quarter of a pound.

Shade is important. Sometimes one can provide natural shade, but in other cases artificial shade may be necessary. Besides plenty of shade, be sure that the poultry house has proper ventilation.

One reason why some farm flocks do not lay more eggs is because they are not given sufficient water to drink.

A truckload of capons, turkeys and chickens, was sent to the Philadelphia market recently by 42 Yorkville county (N. C.) farmers at a net profit of $897.84 to the growers.

No permanent laying house should be built without consideration as to best type of soil, drainage, and sufficient head back and front so that rotation of yards may be practiced.

CANADA-U. S. BORDER RESULT OF PARLEYS

Unfortified Boundary 3,000 Miles Long.

Washington.—President Roosevelt's recent reference to the Canadian-United States border as a boundary without fortifications emphasizes the unusual condition which exists along the 3,000-mile strip of land. Aside from patrols of Royal Mounted at strategic points and customs and immigration officials and boats of the department of fisheries on the waterways, it is unguarded. However, it took more than a century of negotiations to arrive at this happy state of affairs.

The fixing of the boundaries, begun in 1783, was not concluded until 1903, and, although there was during the negotiations one or two instances of local uprisings between the settlers on both sides of the line, the final issue was in no case due to a display of force. Because of the faultiness of the only available maps and the ignorance of the negotiators regarding the topography of the country under dispute, the marking of the boundaries was an extremely complicated affair.

A Dispute in the East.

The most dangerous of the frontier disputes was the settlement of the boundary between Maine, New Brunswick, and Quebec. This was fixed by the treaty of 1783, but not completely settled for more than fifty years. The treaty named as the boundaries of the United States such vague locations as "the northwest angle of Nova Scotia," "the St. Croix river" and the islands in the Bay of Passamaquoddy which belonged to the British majesty.

The identity of the St. Croix river was decided by a commission in 1796; that of the islands by an agreement with the British commissioner, Thomas Barclay of New Brunswick, in 1817, and the "angle" by direct negotiations between Daniel Webster, American secretary of state, and Lord Ashburton in 1842.

In these negotiations the king of the Netherlands was called upon to arbitrate. Although his award was based on thorough investigations, Maine did not agree to it and the difficulties culminated in the "Restook war" of 1838-39. For this affair the President was authorized to call out the militia, but hostilities were averted.

Difficulties also entered into the fixing of the boundaries west of Niagara. France first claimed the Mississippi basin by virtue of the explorations of La Salle; English fur traders claimed the Northwest. With the cession of Quebec in 1763 the situation changed, England claiming what is now the north central states. The northwest ordinance of 1787 envisioned the ambitions of the young republic in the vacant spaces of the West. Lewis and Clark, Gray and Astor, carried the flag to the Pacific.

The electioneering cry in 1844 of "Fifty-four Forty or Fight" typified the spirit of the time, but wiser counsel prevailed.

Difficulties Over Waterways.

Negotiations were entered into in 1846, and it was decided that the boundary should follow the forty-ninth parallel from the Rockies to "the middle of the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver's Island, and thence southerly through the middle of the said channel and of Fuca's strait to the Pacific ocean."

The many waterways along the border—the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence, St. John, Richelieu, and Detroit rivers—all have caused many difficulties in the boundary question. To solve them Elihu Root, secretary of state, and James Bryce, ambassador extraordinary at Washington, brought about a treaty which created the international joint commission. This commission, which first met in 1912, consisted of six members, three appointed by the President of the United States and three by the king on the recommendation of the governor-general-in-council of Canada. Its decisions have decided many troublesome controversies.

Ancient Legend Figures in Two Jeweled Cups

Washington.—A legend of ancient India figures in two jeweled cups now on display at the National museum here.

The two cups are part of the $5,000,000 Gaiety collection. One is a large jeweled cup from which the emperor of Delhi, famous medieval tippler, once swallowed his wine. The other, a small emerald studded one, was given to the emperor by his queen as a substitute.

The legend goes that the queen was afraid the emperor would drink himself to death and imposed the shorter measure on him as a last resort against serious delirium tremens.

U. S. Deer Bell Curiosity in South African Town

East Hampton, Conn.—An electric deerbell, manufactured here, has become the greatest curiosity in the town of South Coast, Natal, South Africa, according to word received here by Miss Florence Day.

Miss Day gave the bell to Miss Shumway Mahanya, a student friend, and when she returned to her home in South Africa she took it with her.

It is the only bell in the town, and native, young and old, come to the house to press the button and hear for the sound, Miss Mahanya wrote.

Local Death Record

Decatur Adeline Damm, three-year old daughter of Kingston High School Principal and Mrs. Clarence H. Damm of 4 Mountain avenue, died Tuesday night. Funeral will be held from the family residence Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Charles E. Hillier died at Broad Street Hollow Tuesday. Surviving is his wife, formerly Ortha Hinkley. Funeral services will be held at the Free Methodist Church at Allenton Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, daylight saving time. Interment will be in Shandaken Rural cemetery.

Clarence M. Marquand of 58 Maiden Lane died Tuesday afternoon at the Kingston Hospital, aged 35 years. He had been ill for two months. Surviving are his widow, formerly Miss Agnes Kiegl; two daughters, Ellen F. and Margaret A. his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marquand, all of Kingston. Funeral at private Thursday at 2 p. m. with interment in Montrose cemetery.

The body of James Edward Lane was found Sunday morning lying by the road near the home of Lilyam Lane at Hawley's Corners. Corporal George S. Galloway of Marlborough was called and gave permission for the removal of the body to the undertaking parlor of Clifton B. Carpenter. The verdict was death from an attack of heart trouble, and that he had apparently died during the night. He was 63 years of age and had been a laborer. He is survived by several children who did not live here. The funeral services are held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Carpenter undertaking rooms with the Rev. Herbert Killinger officiating. The burial is to be in the New Palis Rural cemetery.

Karl Flicker of 36 East St. James street, died at the home of his brother, Augustus J. Flicker, on Lucas avenue extension at an early hour this morning. Funeral services from the chapel of A. Carr & Son on Pearl street on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment in Wilkwyck cemetery. Deceased is survived by three brothers, Augustus J., J. George and Leonard Flicker. His wife, Mrs. Ida Wolven Flicker, died several years ago. Mr. Flicker was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10 F. & A. M., and for many years was employed as a butcher in the shop of the late Frank Merritt on St. James street. Later Mr. Flicker embarked in business for himself with a shop at Broadway and Liberty street where he remained for ten years, finally selling out and again entering the employ of Mr. Merritt and at the latter's death took over the business which he continued until last July when he sold the business.

Charles H. Lamb, one of Saugerties' best known and highly respected citizens, died Monday in the Kingston Hospital after an illness of many weeks. He was in the 71st year of his age. Mr. Lamb, son of the late Daniel Lamb, succeeded his father in the long established hardware and tinmith business on Market street, Saugerties. For many years he was actively identified with the business, banking and industrial affairs of the community. He was a director of the Saugerties First National Bank and Trust Company, first vice president and a trustee of the Saugerties Savings Bank; a trustee of William H. Raymond Lodge, No. 59, I. O. O. F., a member of the Saugerties Club, the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce and the Reformed Dutch Church. He had also been a director and vice president of the Saugerties Manufacturing Company. He is survived by his wife, a son, Arthur D. Lamb, a sister, Miss Gertrude Lamb, and three grandchildren, Ellen Gardner, Daniel Lamb and Arthur Lamb, Jr. Funeral services will be held from the late residence on Market street, Saugerties, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Mountain View cemetery.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUINCY JAMES

Stamp collectors everywhere are very interested in the sale of the collection of the late Arthur Hind of Utica, N. Y. Estimated to have a value of more than $2,000,000, this collection is one of the finest assemblages of stamps from all over the world in existence. The sale is expected to start in New York after the close of the year.

Mr. Hind, who died a wealthy man, came to this country in 1885 from Wales, devoted most of his later years to gathering up stamps, including the British Guiana one-cent for which he paid $12,000.

In pursuing his hobby, he had the assistance of W. C. Kennett, Jr., who was regularly employed. Kennett, together with Charles J. Phillips of New York, are now preparing the stamps preparatory to the sale.

Many Rare Stamps

The 1934 issue of the standard catalog, the publication date of which is September 15, contains 42 additional pages to provide space for the more than 1,000 new stamps issued the last year. In quite a number of instances there are valuation changes.

CHURCH WILL HOLD ITS ANNIVERSARY

The 75th anniversary of the founding of St. Calvary Lutheran Church, N. Y., will be celebrated with special services next Sunday. The morning service will begin at 10:30. This service several beautiful material gifts, presented to the congregation, will be dedicated. The Rev. Christian Kraemer, a former pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Kingston, will preach the anniversary sermon. The afternoon service will begin at 2 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. William H. Smith, also a former pastor but pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Kingston. The Rev. O. M. Sanford, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran church, Kingston, will assist in the service. The choir of St. Calvary Lutheran church, Kingston, will furnish special music under the direction of Donald Fellows and Ruth MacMillen, organist. Lunch will be served between the services so that all who attend the afternoon service may also remain for the afternoon service.

Chicken Supper at Cottickill. Thursday, October 12, the annual chicken supper of the Cottickill Reformed Church will be held in the church hall. The supper will be of the character as those of the past. The menu and further particulars will be announced at a later date. The public is very cordially invited.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press
Detroit, Sept. 13.—Friends rallied to Abdul Aziz's aid when he was fined for a traffic violation. They paid the fine, but Abdul insisted on staying in jail.

An policeman picked him up bodily and carried him out to the street yesterday he struggled and cried: "I cannot repay my friends. And if I do not repay a debt I shall never reach my heaven. It is so written."

Tim-Tim Abolished.
Minneapolis, N. Y.—An ashecan derby will open the Nassau County Fair, a blue ribbon event, next Tuesday. The derby is a race for automobiles ten or more years old. One rule is that all entrants must be willing to sell their cars for $50 after the race.

Was at Ballot Box
Ironton, O.—New problem for Lawrence county voters: In the last election Charles A. Smith of Ironton was opposed in the race for county auditor by Charles Smith of Coal Grove.

New Constable Frank M. Smith, brother of Charles A., will be opposed for re-election by Frank N. Smith, brother of Charles.

Mike Does His Part.
Towanda, Pa.—Mike Kutnick's hunger strike may make a job for a telephone operator at the county jail.

The Sheriff says unless Mike, a vagrant who has refused food for eight days, partakes of nourishment soon, an extra operator may have to be engaged to handle the telephone calls Mike's strike has occasioned.

Hen's Triple Play.
Marshfield, Ore.—How many eggs make an omelet? One, if it's big enough, W. W. Miller believes. His four months old White Rock hen laid an egg with three yolks.

Sammy Follows Order.
Seattle—Nick Brace, lumber company manager, was astonished when a freight truck unloaded a black cow in his yard.

A bow tie about the cow's neck was signed "Sammy," the name of his agent at Sequim.

By investigating, he found "Sammy" had followed instructions to get rid of some of his overstocked yard by a "barter and trade" system. The cow was payment on a lumber deal.

Theft by Wholesale.
Orville, Calif.—It's a police puzzle, no mistake. Guy Wilkinson's 1,100 laying hens are missing. He reported to police they were stolen from his ranch while the family slept.

Orchids For Tax Man.
New York—Samuel Untermyer, the man who is trying to help get the city out of threatened financial difficulties, wears a fresh orchid in his buttonhole every day.

Right out of his own greenhouse, too. It's a hobby. He says he has, among many other kinds, pure white orchids—which are so rare some people didn't believe they existed.

Weren't They Lucky?
Bokoshe, Okla.—R. A. Powell helped his two children into the back seat of his motor car, tossed a coil of rope on the floor and started on a trip to the country.

When the rope was uncoiled at the end of the trip, out came a big rattlesnake. The children were unharmed. The snake was killed.

Once, He Says, Is Enough.
Chicago—Anton Lucas is 5 feet tall. His wife, Jessie, is 5 feet 5 inches. All of which became important when Lucas testified his wife struck him and broke their furniture. Said the judge: "I'll give you a divorce if you promise to marry a woman your own size."

"I don't think I'll get married again," Lucas replied.

NEW HURLEY
New Hurley, Sept. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. William Tears of Poughkeepsie, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Birch.

Mrs. F. G. Schoonmaker has been spending a few days with her daughter and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Roscoe Strivings, in Highland Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. William Engerson returned from their wedding trip on Thursday and on Sunday they left here for their home in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hart and Mr. Arnold of Middletown called on their aunt, Mrs. Isaac Sutton, Sunday afternoon and late in the afternoon Mrs. Sutton and daughter accompanied them to Modena and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Dunsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry DeBols and Bruce Hadley and daughter attended the dog show in Cornwall last Saturday.

Mrs. Homer Sutton of Plattekill spent Monday with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. William DePew.

Several from here attended the centennial in the Plattekill M. E. Church last week.

About 250 people were fed at the clambake held in the church hall September 2, when the net proceeds amounted to $151.00. The committee wishes to thank all who so kindly assisted in making it a success. They are especially grateful to John D. Garrison and his wife, who donated their services for the bake.

Preaching services here next Sunday morning at 11, in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Vernon O. Nagel. Sunday school at 10 o'clock and Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Topic, "What Hinders the Full Success of Prohibition." Leader, the Rev. Vernon Nagel.

Other Card Party.
A public card party will be held at the Elks Club, Fair street, next Monday night at 8 o'clock. This card party is the first of a series of card parties which will be held every two weeks during the season.

Long Island Nine To Play Walkhill Prison on Sunday

The Laurel A. C. of Laurel Hill, L. I., will oppose the Medium Security Prison nine at Walkhill Sunday afternoon in a double-header baseball program, the first game of which is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock.

Prior to the games, the Medium Security Orchestra, trained and directed by Harry Maltzberger, Kingston band leader, will play a concert. Between the first and second games, the old Walden life and drum corps will drill and play selections.

In the Laurel A. C. the Medium Security team expects much opposition, the visiting nine having been recommended as one of the strongest available for Sunday's contests. Last Sunday the Medium Security team lost to the Highland Falls Collegiate in the dual bill, 3-2 and 1-0. The battling was close as the scores indicate and was enjoyed by the spectators who filled the stands at "Little Yankee Stadium". Next Sunday another large turnout is expected. All games at Medium Security Prison are open to the public.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

"The recent custom among the better Southeastern Conference football teams of scheduling tough opponents on consecutive Saturdays makes it appear at this time that no conference outfit will complete the season unbeaten. Furthermore, it looks as if none will furnish the strictly conference slate with a perfect record, writes our Mr. Dillon Graham from Atlanta.

"In past years a few of the more important teams have been content with arranging a 'made-to-order' schedule with a few breather contests inserted between their major clashes but this year virtually every team has contracted for a back-breaking assignment.

Tennessee, which has had well-built schedules in past years, steps out to face a slate with only one comparatively easy opponent. The Vols start with V. P. I., looked upon as one of the best in the Southern Conference, then face Mississippi State—an easy hurdle. Duke, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Washington, Mississippi, Vanderbilt, Kentucky and Louisiana State.

"Tennessee needs to uncover a pair of good tackles to be all set. The rest of the line is strong with good replacements. The backfield, with Beattie Feathers as the big gun, looks good. Kentucky lost a pile of veterans. However, it has two of the best ends in the south and a great kicker in Kercheval.

Alabama Co-Favorite

"Alabama, a co-favorite with Tennessee at this date, can experiment a little at the outset but from mid-October on the Crimson will have its hands full. Oglethorpe, Mississippi and Mississippi State are the first three. Then come Tennessee, Fordham, Kentucky, V. P. I., Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt.

"Florida, with a trio of new and young coaches, appears an uncertain prospect. If the Gators get off on the right foot they may be dangerous.

"Georgia should be a little better than last year. Harry Mehre is trying a slight variation of the Notre Dame system this year.

"With a couple of good punters on hand, Georgia Tech will be much more formidable. The Engineers lost a number of games last year that could have been won with a good kicker.

Vandy Weakened

"Vanderbilt, greatly weakened by graduation of an entire backfield and such line stars as Foster, Gracey and Leyendecker, will offer a largely sophomore team. Sewanee will find the Southeastern company too fast.

"The loss of the All-American Jimmy Hitchcock from the backfield and several stellar linemen, likely will prove too much for Auburn.

"Both of the Mississippi schools, State and the University, will be improved but will not be contenders. Louisiana State should have a good year. Biff Jones' team plays Vanderbilt, Mississippi, Tulane, Mississippi State and Tennessee, all at the end of the year.

"Tulane lost a large percentage of its line and also the All-American Don Zimmerman. The Greenies also face one of their toughest schedules in years."

Yesterday's STARS

By The Associated Press

Wes Ferrell, Indiana—Knocked in winning runs against Senators with single in sixth.

Lon Warneke, Cubs—Shut out Phillies with six hits.

Sam West, Browns—Led attack on Red Sox with two hits and two runs and batted brilliantly.

Pie Traynor, Pirates—Batted in a run in each game as Pirates beat Dodgers, 1-0 and 2-0.

Gerald Walker, Tigers—Drove in all Detroit's runs against Yankees, hitting triple, double and single.

Ross Keeps Crown In Battle With Canzoneri

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—The big, tough, the toughest in the world to convince, was ready today to admit Barney Ross of Chicago to the ranks of the world's ring champions.

Out of one of the most savage, grueling fights ever seen in a local ring, the Jewish brawler from the middle west emerged with his second victory over the veteran Tony Canzoneri, from whom he won the lightweight title less than three months ago.

With 40,000 howling fans looking on at the Polo Grounds last night, most of them pulling ferociously for Canzoneri to turn the tables on the former amateur champion and reclaim his crown, Ross withstood Tony's early rushes, caught up with him midway of the fight and beat him all over the ring before it was over.

Harold Barnes, one of the judges, gave the Chicago boy nine rounds, Canzoneri two and called four even. The other judge, George Kelly, awarded Canzoneri eight and Ross seven. Arthur Donovan, referee, gave Ross eight rounds, Canzoneri four and adjudged three even.

Neither ever was in danger of a knockout, despite the terrific pace they set and the many furious exchanges. Ross admitted he was dizzy for a moment both in the ninth and eleventh rounds, when Tony caught him flush on the jaw with left hooks, but he recovered

Amateur Golfers Vie For Honors

Kenwood Country Club, Cincinnati, Sept. 13 (AP)—The survivors of a record-breaking qualifying test squared away in the gruelling struggle for the United States amateur golf championship today—only 24 holding undisputed places in the first 18-hole round of match play, and a dozen others vying for the remaining eight positions.

Grouped in the surviving field which scored so furiously that an unprecedented score of 150 was necessary to escape elimination in the 36-hole qualifier were some of the most prominent names in American amateur golf, including C. Ross Somerville of Canada, the defending title holder; Johnny Goodman of Omaha, national open champion, and Johnny Fischer, the home-town idol who blazed his way to medalist honors yesterday with a sub-par of 69 for the history making total of 141.

Three former champions were among the 12 contenders who barely made the score of 150 necessary to keep them in the race for the last eight positions in the match play. It was the lowest qualifying limit in the national amateur's 37-year history and the number deduced at 150 also was a new record.

Trailing by a large gallery of home town supporters, Fischer captured the low scoring honors for the second consecutive year. His 141 is the lowest qualifying score ever marked up in the amateur championship. A record of 142 was set in 1924 by D. Clarke Clark of Baltimore. It was equaled by Bobby Jones in 1927 and in 1930, and by Fischer himself just a year ago at Five Farms, Baltimore.

Fischer won the medal honors in a brilliant performance under heavy pressure. His closing 69, two under par and equalling the new competitive record for Kenwood, nosed out a collegiate rival, Pat Sawyer of Minneapolis and the University of Minnesota, by one stroke. The two had met several times before when Fischer was playing with the University of Michigan golf team.

Two Polo Games At U. S. M. A. Sunday

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 13—Spectators will have an opportunity to witness two polo games when Cavalry and Freebooters teams of the West Point Officers Polo Club meet the strong Governors Island quartet and the Cadet team at picturesque Howze Field, on Sunday afternoon, September 17.

After being defeated 5-3 by the Fort Hamilton team last Sunday, the West Point officers have been practicing daily to improve both team and stick work.

Major J. K. Brown, former riding master at the military academy, will lead the visiting poloists. He will oppose his son, Cadet J. K. Brown, Jr., when Governors Island plays the Cadet four.

To insure ample time for spectators to view the evening parade of the corps of cadets, Sunday's game will start at 2:30 p. m.

ZENA

Zena, Sept. 13—Mr. and Mrs. G. Fabini and daughter from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Holumer.

Next Sunday will be the close of the summer season for the Zena church and it will be rally day in Sunday school and church. The sermon will be "The Kingdom of God" and there will be special music. All are most cordially invited to come.

In the evening the C. E. will have a special meeting under the leadership of Lillian Van Eiten and her topic will be "Good Things Done by Jesus". There will be special music.

All young folks are cordially invited. Frank Tichenor is spending his vacation up on his farm on Chestnut Hill. Miss Ann Reinhold and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reinhold are also visiting up on Chestnut Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sheldon are riding around in a new auto.

Where Janitor Gets Name In ancient Rome the doormen were called janitors, from the Latin word, Janus, meaning door. Gradually the province of doorman was extended to general caretaker, the name remaining the same.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Chicago Cubs marched into the National League pennant picture today to start a six-game series with the New York Giants that was labeled even before it started as a "last ditch" affair.

Starting from a second place tie, 7½ games behind the Giants, the Cubs were rated as the only team that had any real chance of beating out the leaders.

New York's closing game at Cincinnati was wiped out by threatening weather yesterday and it is unlikely that it will be played unless it is necessary to decide the championship. With that and another game gone where they can't be added to the Giants' losing column, the Cubs were faced with the necessity of winning all six games or the worst of out of six, to get into a threatening position. And even in that event they wouldn't be sure as the Giants now need to win only half their remaining 16 games to clinch the flag regardless of what the other teams do.

As a tune-up for the critical series, the Cubs hung a neat 2 to 0 trimming on the Phillies yesterday for their fifth victory in 66 home games this season. Lonnie Warneke kept the Phils in complete submission, giving up only six hits and never allowing a runner to touch third. Young Adolph Co. III, fresh from the Pacific Coast League, walked a triple with Frank Demaree on base and scored on Gaby Hartnett's fly to account for both Chicago runs.

It was the second time in his four-day major league career that Camilli had provided the winning blow for the Cubs. He did it with a homer in Sunday's second game. Pittsburgh's Pirates, whose direct attack on the leaders failed last week, moved back into a second place tie by taking two shutout decisions from the Brooklyn Dodgers. Heinie Meine and Waite Hoyt held the Dodgers to nine hits to win a pair of mound duels, 1 to 0 and 2 to 0. Hollis Thurston and Rookie Emil Leonard were the losers.

The Boston and St. Louis Nationals had an open date. The New York Yankees again clipped a game off Washington's American League lead without frightening the Senators badly. The Yanks downed the Detroit Tigers 5-3 as the ex-Detroiters, George Uhle, stopped all the Tigers except Gerald Walker, who knocked in all three runs. Another Walker, Dixie of the Yanks, provided the winning tallies with his 13th homer.

Cleveland and Young Monte Pearson got the better of Washington and "General" Al Crowder by a 3 to 1 count. Pearson gave only four hits while Crowder granted five, including a homer by Odell Hale. The St. Louis Browns continued their efforts to get out of the cellar by trimming the seventh place Boston Red Sox for the third straight time, 4 to 1, behind the six-hit slug of Dick Coffman.

The Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia Athletics were rained out.

Meeting Postponed. The Rip Van Winkle Triangle will hold its meeting on Thursday, September 14, instead of tomorrow.

FAIR AND SUPPER AT ZENA

WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Zena, Sept. 13.—Last Friday was a banner day for the young folks of Zena. The fair and supper sponsored by the Christian Endeavor Society was a wonderful success, both socially as well as financially. They were happy that their first attempt in giving something for the church was so successful. There were close to 300 people present and from all reports all were delighted with the chicken dinner served. A committee of the older ladies of the community helped in the kitchen and the young people did the waiting on the table.

At 9 p. m. all gathered in the church and following a prelude on the organ, Mr. Heidenreich welcomed all and introduced the group of youngsters who presented a short two-act playlet. Those taking part were the Calmar sisters, Millicent Sewell, Judith Seaton and Lois Carrington.

Martin Young from New York City then sang a group of two songs, the "Aria" "Martha" from the opera of the same name and "Who is Sylvia". Mr. Young was in splendid voice and received long and appreciative applause.

The youngsters here presented a little comical sketch and their efforts were applauded loud and long.

Mr. Young again sang another group of songs "Songs My Mother Taught Me" and "Going Home" both by Dvorak. The congregation again showed its appreciation in hearty applause.

Dr. Frank B. Seely from Kingston was then introduced by Mr. Heidenreich and Dr. Seely delivered a short address on the need of the church in a community and the "fun" of being a Christian. He could not help but remark on the wonderful work that had been done in two months under the leadership of Mr. Heidenreich and the wonderful response of the public at this time.

Upon his introduction Dr. Seely was most warmly greeted by the congregation and at the end of his address there was a storm of applause.

The C. E. Society is happy to report that it cleared $162.21 and wishes to thank one and all for helping them realize that sum.

Among the many guests present were the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Howard E. Thompson from Trinity Church in Newburgh, the Rev. Mr. Oudens from Mr. Marion and High Woods, and Dr. and Mrs. Seely from Kingston. There were many others from Rochester, New York City, Newburgh, Ashokan, Mt. Marion, High Woods, Red Hook, Kingston, Saugerties, Woodstock, West Hurley, Wittenberg.

Colonial City Flower Show Awards Made

The Colonial City Flower Show held September 8, at Church of the Comforter Hall, presented a pleasing and attractive appearance. Over 165 entries were on view covering a wide variety of flowers from the smallest Pom Pom Dahlia to the large and majestic giants of the Dahlia family. The splendid and effective display of all varieties of flowers by the many exhibitors was admired by all who visited the show.

Mrs. Le Roy Brown of Kingston, was awarded a special first prize and a first prize on a table arrangement completely set for serving eight people for a bridal party. Her bridal bouquets of roses, and arch of lilies of the Valley, with miniature dolls representing the bridal party, was a very beautiful arrangement and admired by all. The table was donated by Mr. Kaplan of North Front street, dishes by Rose and Gorman and silverware by Richard Meyer.

An attractive table was displayed by Mrs. Addison Schultz with simplicity as her keynote. The exhibitor set a bridge table with black and crystal glassware with a bowl of quaint black panes as its centerpiece. Against a blue linen cloth the effect was unusual. In the opinion of the judges this display merited a special first prize and a first prize. One of the most spectacular features of the flower show was a pageant or flower review given by the Schoonmaker florist of John street. The fete was announced by Miss Frances Pocker a recent graduate of Cornell University. Miss Pocker looked very charming in a yellow evening gown which was a reproduction of that worn by Katherine Hepburn in one of her recent pictures. Miss Pocker wore an Orchid wrist corsage which was very much suited to her dress as were all the other corsages displayed.

Miss Marion Karpino looked the charming bride with a white satin dress and long veil and carried a bouquet of White Roses and Orchids. One of the most effective corsages was that of Bittersweet and Gardenia leaves tied with cellophane ribbon which can be worn all winter. A very unique corsage of Tritoma was shown as well as a round corsage of Gardenias. Miss Schoonmaker was very well fitted to carry on such a show as she has just spent two days in New York City securing good firm information as to the correct style and mode of wearing flowers this fall. All dresses, coats and hats were exhibited by New York Cloak and Suit Co. Much credit is due to Mrs. Marion Karpino, Miss Adelaide Rice and Miss Doris Miller of this city who made perfect models for displaying such fine works of art.

Among the most outstanding exhibits was a display of dahlias and gladioli in baskets of Fred L. Tubby of Kingston, which received a special first prize for arrangement. Wolfersheim and Atkins presented a large display of dahlias in vases and baskets and was admired by all. Local NRA Official Notices and Rulings

September 13, 1933.
Freeman Publishing Company.
Please publish the following:

Criticism of NRA activities in respect to securing compliance with NRA Codes, which appeared in the columns of The Freeman issue of Tuesday evening, September 12, is very welcome. Such criticism shows an interest in NRA by the public and the local committees are glad to note this.

In securing compliance with NRA codes, the local committees are glad to state that they have received only the most hearty cooperation and most considerate reception from all employers who have been visited. Of necessity, most of the work has been confidential and various difficulties have been adjusted by private interview.

It is not the intention of any NRA Committee member to do other than to secure, by the best method possible, a compliance of the dealer with his code and the cooperation of the consumer with his pledge card agreement. In fact, the whole NRA proposition is based upon the willingness of the public to cooperate with a fair and reasonable proposition which, in its adoption, shall help this country toward recovery.

It should also be thoroughly understood by the public that all codes except the President's Re-employment Agreement, sometimes called the "Blanket Code," are proposed by the associations of the business concerns who shall operate under these codes. Therefore, no concern should object seriously to operating under a code which was proposed by his organization and in the adoption of lawn with pergola, rustic walk, fish pond, etc., very skillfully arranged, being awarded a special first prize.

Leonard Flisinger of Port Ewen showed a miniature landscape scene with pond, culvert and road under construction, being awarded a first prize.

The committee wishes to thank all the exhibitors who were interested enough to exhibit and flowers. The committee also wishes to thank Joseph Schiavone of the Kingston House of flowers; LeRoy Brown, florist of Kingston; James Tinney, florist of Port Ewen, for the efficient manner in which they decided all awards, also Jerry Polinsky and Walt Ostrander for the business like manner in which they conducted the sale of flowers.
